

Canada Notice of Privacy Practices

At Alexion, our mission is to provide hope to patients and families affected by rare diseases. As stewards of data about these patients and the health care professionals who treat them, we believe that respecting and protecting that data is a key part of delivering lifesaving medications. We are committed to handling personal data fairly and transparently in support of our mission and in accordance with the laws and regulations that govern data protection and privacy.

With this information form, we, Alexion Pharma Corp. (“Alexion”, “we”) would like to inform you for collecting, processing, storing and transferring your personal data as a data controller within the scope of the Personal Information Protection and Electronic Documents Act or applicable provincial privacy and data protection laws (“Law”).

Personal Data:

Within the scope of this Information Form, “personal data” refers to any of your personal data of general or special nature, including but not limited to your first name, middle name, surname, gender, academic title, work address, phone number, e-mail address, the institution where you work, your duty, position, expertise, interests, languages and academic works.

For Which Purposes We Use the Personal Data?

We process your personal data for the purposes detailed below:

- Contact and Communication: To improve the effectiveness of the promotional, scientific and educational information we provide; to engage in market research; to invite you to the meetings or to the events such as congresses, symposiums, educational events, etc.; to contact you regarding receiving your consultancy services on topics, to the extent permitted by the relevant regulations; to record your personal data on the databases used by our Company in order to communicate with you; and to store that information in order to remember how and when we have interacted with you.

- Visit: To organize visits, to the extent and scope permitted by the relevant legislations; to deliver information about our areas of expertise, our products and the rare diseases for which they are indicated; to inform you about the developments on these topics; to store that information in order to remember how and when we have interacted with you.

- Analyze: To record, to analyze, to classify, to store and to use the information regarding our meetings, communications, visits, activities and events conducted with you and other health care professionals; in this regard, to classify you and other health care professionals by your expertise, your scientific interest concerning the treatment areas that Alexion is engaged with and your scientific information requests and needs concerning these areas in order to better understand the needs of the medical communities we aim to serve; to deliver exclusive information, to determine and to improve the opportunity and the methods for getting contact with you; to determine the main scope of our promotion activities and visits regarding the Alexion products and to determine how often and intensively conducting these events is appropriate; to arrange the field activities of the Alexion more effectively and to use the workforce of Alexion more effectively and efficiently. Your personal data will not be used to make decisions based solely on automated processing operations that will produce legal effects or otherwise will significantly affect you.

- Contacting you via electronic messaging: In addition to the above, to send you electronic messages (like SMS, e-mail), either directly from Alexion or from our third party partners described below.

- Transfers of Value: To record and share, to the extent required under applicable law, documentation regarding payments, transfers of value or any other exchange of value or money in the course of your interaction with Alexion.

- Data Required by Law: To provide Regulatory Authorities and other governmental entities with appropriate information related to your interaction with Alexion, Alexion products and the rare diseases for which they are indicated, to the extent required by law, such as clinical trial records, pharmacovigilance information and other similar records.
